HOT AND DANGEROUS WITH OMID DJALILI

2 x 60 / 2013 / ID: 145432

Presented by stand-up comedian Omid Djalili, this two-part extreme food series looks at the culture and chemistry behind some of the hottest, most dangerous foods in Britain. The UK is a nation that loves fiery dishes. With over 9,000 Indian restaurants it's estimated we individually splash out over £400 a year each on curries. Omid Djalili is setting out on a spice odyssey to get to the bottom of this national obsession and find Britain's most notorious and hottest dish. Omid isn't a fan of super spicy food but wants to understand this national obsession and see if he can be won over on his spice odyssey. As part of his investigations, Omid will immerse himself in each dish's cultural context, meet the chefs, look at the chemistry behind the ingredients and cooking processes, and use a special 'heat rig' to measure the effects on his body. Once Omid has discovered the hottest dish, each episode culminates in a head to head chili eating challenge of epic proportions, as Omid takes on a legendary hot-head in a head to head race to finish the hottest dish.

FOOD BUDDHA

2 x 30 / TLC / 2009 / ID: 56253

In the quest to find new inspiration for his own menu, Chef Rodelio Aglibot is willing to travel anywhere and try anything - even if that means ordering one of literally every single item in a restaurant. Embark on his culinary adventure to both the Big Easy and the Big Apple as Chef Rodelio seeks to introduce the perfect concoction for his Chicago restaurant.

MY TASTE OF HONG KONG

3 x 30 / TLC / 2014 / ID: 145902

This three-part special pairs up six of Asia's most exciting, vibrant young chefs as they embark on a journey to discover Hong Kong as guests of leading food critic Michelle Loo. Michelle has invited the chefs to explore their favorite aspects of the islands, and use this inspiration to make their own interpretations of Hong Kong's signature flavours in a dinner banquet for Michelle and a few of her selected friends. In each episode, the pair of featured chefs visit different areas of Hong Kong and use their experience as inspiration for cooking. They also learn about the customs, history and lifestyles associated with the food. After their tour, the teams return to Michelle's kitchen and set to work creating their own interpretations to serve to Michelle and her esteemed guests.

NOMAD CHEF

Meet Jock Zonfrillo who's cooking up a storm in Nomad Chef, an extreme adventure cooking series. Scottish by birth, 38 year-old Jock moved to Australia in 2000. He learned his trade in a tough apprenticeship at Scotland's Turnberry golf course and worked in Michelin star restaurants with the likes of Marco Pierre White and Gordon Ramsay in London before heading to Australia to set up his own top flight restaurant - Orana. Embarking on a journey to some of the world's most remote communities, the series sees chef Jock hunt, harvest and forage with indigenous people for the ingredients that go into their native dishes, fostering the knowledge to cook as the locals do, learning to cook with respect to each native culture, and taking a voyage of discovery – and often danger. Returning back to his city-based restaurant in Australia, Jock then has to deliver a menu inspired by his trip to the discerning clientele of his restaurant.
