SHARK WEEK
AIR JAWS: NIGHT STALKER

Famed shark photographer Chris Fallows embarks on his eighth Air Jaws adventure with shark expert Jeff Kurr and shark biologist Neil Hammerschlag as they discover how great white sharks hunt in total darkness. It turns out that great whites can hunt effectively with or without any sun or moonlight.

AIR JAWS: WALKING WITH GREAT WHITES

Legendary natural history producer Jeff Kurr, world renowned shark photographer Chris Fallows and shark diver Dickie Chivelli return to South Africa to embark on a quest to learn even more about great whites. Great white sharks spend most of their lives on, or near the sea floor where humans dare to venture. Chivell’s goal is to capture the breach of a great white shark from underwater and topside, with a spectacular result.

BLUE SERENGETI

Famed marine biologist and shark expert Barbara Block has been studying the white sharks off of California for more than 27 years. Now, with breakthrough camera and tracking technology, she is giving scientists, and viewers, a portrait of an unseen domain like never before. Blue Serengeti reveals this rich but hidden world and its inhabitants by deploying cameras on both predator and prey.
THE GREAT SHARK CHASE

The Great Shark Chase follows Monty Hall, adventurer, marine biologist and expedition leader, as he guides his team across South Africa in a quest to track and scientifically analyse sharks as they chase the run. This incredible natural event, in terms of biomass, is greater than the massive east African wildebeest migrations, but far less understood. And where the sardines go, whales, big game fish and sharks follow.

ISLE OF JAWS

Shark cinematographer Andy Casagrande has discovered that great white sharks have completely disappeared from the Neptune islands off South Australia. While searching for them, he stumbled upon an incredible discovery – a concentration of all male great white sharks off an uncharted island. Andy called in marine biologist Dr. Jonathan Werry, and together they hope to solve two of the most closely guarded great white secrets – where they mate and where they have their young.

JAWS OF THE DEEP

Marine biologist Greg Skomal and the REMUS SharkCam team return to Guadalupe to find the world’s largest great white shark – Deep Blue. Together, they build a profile of how the great white uses the entire water column. The team uncovers hunting techniques and strategies great whites use to ambush their prey, and film a great white’s attack on their robot sub!

SHARK BAIT

There’s been a war going on between seals and great whites for millions of years. Now there’s a new battleground on the map called Cape Cod. It’s different in every way from the usual rocky islands where sharks and seals usually face off. The great whites have had to learn new ways to hunt seals here. Dr. Greg Skomal and his team wonder what the sharks are doing here, how do they get here, and how do more sharks learn of Cape Cod’s bounty of seals.

SHARKS AMONG US

Shark encounters are increasing around the globe. The solutions to deal with the public’s growing anxiety range from culling to using nets and drumlines – all of which kill sharks. Dr. Craig O’Connell believes he has developed a system that will prove once and for all that sharks and people can peacefully coexist – and live!

SHARKS VS DOLPHINS: FACE OFF

Sharks and dolphins have shared the ocean for ages, but only recently have scientists begun to understand the true nature of the relationship between these two masters of the sea. It’s hostile, and dangerous, mainly for dolphins. Dolphins would rather eat fish and swim with humans; sharks would rather eat dolphins and anything they can sink their teeth into. Dr. Mike Heithaus and his team bring new research that may solve why sharks attack dolphins far more than we ever knew.

Now, he’s on a quest to answer what he calls the trifecta of tiger shark science: where do these giant sharks mate, where do the pregnant females gestate, and where do they give birth? He hopes to find answers by tagging and tracking 40 sharks across a shallow area off the Bahamas called Tiger Beach.
